Index of First Lines

	Song No.
A bright-born day in merry, merry May	1
Abroad as I was walking	2
A memoir of James Stephens	3
A sailor courted a farmer's daughter	4
As I ga'ed o'er the Hieland hills	5
As I rode out one morn in May	6
As I roved out one evening late	7
As I roved out one evening fair	8
As I went a-walking one morning in May	9
As I went a-walking one morning in Summer	10
Attend, you faithful Christians	11
A wee bit over the lea, my lads	12
By our camp fires rose a murmur	13
Come all true sons of Erin	14
Come all ye brave united men	15
Come all ye bould Free Staters now	16
Come all ye dry land sailors bold	17
Come all ye happy lovers	18
Come all ye loyal lovers	19
Come listen awhile you Irishmen	20
Come tenderhearted Christians all	21
Farewell, dearest Nancy	22
For sake of health I took a walk	23
For sixteen months I courted her	24
Good people all attention pay	25
I am a little beggarman	26
I am a true-born Irishman	27
I am a young fellow	28
I have but one cow, and she has but one tit	29
I'm a young married man	30
In a foreign land, in a lonesome city	31
In Bodenstown churchyard there is a green grave	32
In Derry a widow's dear daughter did dwell	33
In Derry lived a merchant	34
In Newry town I was bred and born	35
In the days I went a-courtin'	36

	Song No.
In the year ninety-eight	37
I sing of a loved one, who's dear unto me	38
It tells of a nobleman's daughter	39
It was early, early, all in the Spring	40
Good men and true, in this house who dwell	41
It was in the year of twenty-one	42
Long, long have I wandered	43
My Johnny was a shoemaker	44
My Mary dear, for thee I die	45
My uncle Denis Clancy was a rambler	46
Neighbours list and hear from me	47
Now, boys, if you will listen	48
Now what sort of song will I sing you tonight?	49
○ if all the young maidens was blackbirds	50
○ I greased my brogues and cut my stick	51
○ learning's a very fine thing	52
○ lovely Mary Donnelly, my joy, my only best	53
○ Lurgan town's an altered town	54
○ many a day have I made good ale	55
○ On a Monday morning early	56
○ One evening of late as I happened to stray	57
○ One morn for recreation as I strayed	58
○ pity the fate of the poor Irish stranger	59
○ the French are on the sea	60
○ tis of a damsel both fair and handsome	61
○ Over across the Shannon we've learnt a thing or two	62
○ what's the good of Government	63
○ Woman of Three Cows, a-gra	64
Smith he was a Bristol man	65
Take all the girls in Ireland	66
Tell me, tell me, Seán O'Farrell	67
The first of my courtship that ever was known	68
The little Red Fox is a raider sly	69
There was an old piper, old and hoary	70
Three brave blacksmiths down in County Clare	71
Three times the flowers have faded	72
Tis of a famous highwayman a story I will tell	73
Tis of a young apprentice came a-courting	74
'Twas early one morning a fair maid arose	75
'Twas in November, I well remember	76
'Twas in the charming month of May	77

	Song No.
'Twas on a fine morning for soft recreation	78
'Twas on the quay of Limerick city	79
'Twas the eve of Saint Patrick	80
We have a loyal little friend	81
What can I say of a playboy's behaviour?	82
When from sea first I landed	83
Ye brilliant muses, who ne'er refuses	84
Ye dark-haired youths and elders hoary	85
Ye lovers of trade and every handicraft	86
Ye may strain your muscles	87
Farewell dear Erin's native shore	88
Ye sons of Dan O'Connell's guard	89
You gallant sons of Erin	90
You injured sons of this doleful nation	91
You lads that are funny	92
You matchless nine, to my aid incline	93
You may gaze from green mountains	94
You'll find on History's pages	95
You very merry people gay	96
Adieu my fair young maiden	97
When first in this country a stranger	98
You may go down to Rosemary Fair	99
O see that fleet foot host of men	100

APPENDIX I:

Perhaps you'd like to know	3a
The night that I was married	7a
Once I loved a damsel	9a
Taobh thall go Claf na Tóránn	12a
Adieu to Belashanny	16a
Come all ye tenderhearted lads	17a
Come all ye boatmen circumspect	17b
Come all ye tenderhearted sons	20a
Farewell, farewell, my native town	20b
You gentlemen and muses	26a
You maidens, now pity the sorrowful moan	28a
Och, the world was full of grievin'	46a
Jack Flaher was skipper	51a
The night before Larry was stretched	52a
Your aid I crave, you Muses	56a

	Song No.
The Piper of Crossbarry, boys	58a
O ! Lord Wathe'ford is dead	60a
My mind being much inclinèd	72a
The night is gathering gloomily	72b
Yonder stands a pretty little maiden	79a
I've heard great talk of the river Barrow	84a
Were I sublimer than the Grecian rhymèr	84b
If sadly thinking with spirits sinking	87a
Ye muses nine, with me combine	88a
From Uisneach in Eirinn	94a

APPENDIX II	Page
As down by Anna Liffey	249
We'll sing you a song of Peace and Love	250
It was the good ship Vartry	251
Ye undaunted sons of Ireland, I pray attend awhile	252
On the sixteenth day of April 'twas that they agreed to fight	253
Come all ye gallant Irishmen, wherever that you be	255
From the day I was nine, the wish was mine	257
Ye damsels of Castalia, Melpomene and Thalia	258
'All over the world,' the traveller said	259
They come from the shore down by the Nore	261
One evening of late as I rambled	262
Of late I am captivated by a fair young man	263
Come listen ye true men to my simple rime	264
Come all ye broken-hearted ones and listen to my lay	265
